

WOCAP'S FAIR HOUSING OFFICE

will assist you by:

- Counseling you on your fair housing rights
- Looking into your fair housing complaint
- Providing information on landlord/tenant rights and responsibilities.
- Analyzing and developing a plan to overcome impediments to fair housing
- Providing workshops on fair housing and landlord/tenant issues

Familial Status

Unless a building or community qualifies as a housing for older persons, it may not discriminate based on familial status. that is, it may not discriminate against families in which one or more children under 18 live with :

- a parent
- a person who has legal custody of a child or children
- The designee of the parent or legal custodian, with the parent or the custodian's written permission

Familial status protection also applies to pregnant women and anyone securing legal custody of a child under 18.

If you have a disability your landlord may not:

- Refuse to let you make reasonable modifications to your dwelling or common use areas, at your expense, if necessary, for the disabled person to use the housing. Where reasonable, the landlord may permit changes only if you agree to restore the property to its original condition when you move.
- Refuse to make reasonable accommodations in rules, policies, practices or services, if necessary, for the disabled person to use the housing.
- However, housing need not be made available to a person who is a direct threat to the health or safety of others or who currently uses illegal drugs.

BE SUSPICIOUS WHEN YOU HEAR LINES LIKE THESE:

When you are renting -
"I rented that apartment right after you called"

"This building is for adults only"

When you are buying:
"The owner just took the house of the market"

"Do you think you can afford this neighborhood?"

"We just can't seem to make an appointment to show you that house."

When you are seeking financing:
"We have a minimum mortgage amount; we don't make loans under $30,000."

"There's a problem with the appraisal."

Sale and Rental of Housing

The following is prohibited:

- Refuse to rent or sell housing
- Refuse to negotiate for housing
- Make housing unavailable
- Deny a dwelling
- Set different terms, conditions or privileges
- Provide different housing service or facilities
- Falsely deny that housing is available for inspection, sale or rental
- For profit, persuade owners to sell or rent
- Deny anyone access to or membership in a facility or service related to the sale or rental

If you have a disability your landlord may not:

- Refuse to let you make reasonable modifications to your dwelling or common use areas, at your expense, if necessary, for the disabled person to use the housing. Where reasonable, the landlord may permit changes only if you agree to restore the property to its original condition when you move.
- Refuse to make reasonable accommodations in rules, policies, practices or services, if necessary, for the disabled person to use the housing.
- However, housing need not be made available to a person who is a direct threat to the health or safety of others or who currently uses illegal drugs.
